

GUIDE TO AWARDS

MACMUN

Best Delegate

The Best Delegate Award is the most prestigious award delegates can receive . It is awarded to the delegate who has has proposed creative and effective ideas consistently, while demonstrating the utmost level of respect and diplomacy. Their contributions should reflect an extensive understanding of their state’s foreign policy (or character’s stance) and should entail feasible solutions that would advance debate. The delegate must be a strong speaker that presents quality arguments and responses throughout committee. To reiterate, this award will be given to a delegate who contributes quality arguments that promote meaningful debate, which is not always reflected by the quantity of speaking time.

Honourable Mention

The Honourable Mention Award is given to the delegate who effectively demonstrates diverse negotiation tactics to reconcile opposing views in debate to pass the resolution and further debate. The delegate chosen will be one who empathizes with other states, tries to understand different arguments, and collaborates with other delegations to take affirmative action and strong stances on the issue(s) being discussed.. This award is also given to a delegate who has illustrated significant growth and/or improvement in committee sessions.

Twitter Award

This award is given to the delegates who effectively use their Twitter accounts throughout the conference to creatively advance debate within their committee. The delegates will have well-versed understanding of their power, and thus use effective rhetoric to further their state’s priorities and interests throughout the committee sessions. The usage of Twitter is a different negotiation tactic and can be slightly informal. However, each tweet must be respectful and the amount of respect given will be taken into great consideration when deciding on the recipient of the award. Furthermore, the delegates will engage with other delegates in different committees, becoming the agent of connection throughout the entire conference.
